About the WWA 11th International Conference

World Without Anger (WWA) is organizing the 11th International Conference entitled “Pathways to Global Peace through Emotional Intelligence, Positive Mental Health, Human Behavior, and Co-operative Management” in Kathmandu, Nepal, in a hybrid format: in presence or online. Over the past 12 years, WWA international conferences have gained worldwide recognition for their contribution to peace education, emotional intelligence, mental health, human resource management, and cooperative researches. The 11th international conference will be held on 21st and 22nd of September 2024 on the auspicious occasion of the United Nations International Peace Day in Kathmandu, Nepal.

WWA has been working to establish a culture of peace as the mandate of UNESCO in order to gain the sustainable development goals (SDGs) of United Nations’ agenda by 2030. The WWA conferences propagate peace and harmony through emotional and financial literacy program and activities in the world. Bachan Saving & Credit Co-operative Ltd. has been collaborating WWA for international conferences since 2009.

Goals of the Conference

- Provide a platform for academicians, researchers, clinicians, policymakers, practitioners, and students to engage in philosophical discussion and present their ideas, research findings, and innovative practices in the fields of peace education, psychology, Buddhism, organizational and human resource management, cooperative management, and global peace initiatives;
- Explore the opportunity for facilitating discussions on global peace, EQ/EI, human resource management among the academicians, managers and research scholars.

- Exploring peace, emotional, and cooperative education through curriculum development for teaching and obtaining emotional skills, as well as modeling program implementations in business, organizations, academic institutions, and government organizations to ensure a sustainable future.
- The conference provides an excellent opportunity for learning and networking, as worldwide scholars, researchers, educators, learners, and consultants, as well as professionals from many professional backgrounds, will present papers and posters on global peace efforts.
- Evaluate and study burning issues of positive mental health and explore the methods of mental peace.

Call for Papers

The conference invites research papers and abstracts, conceptual papers, and case studies related to the theme and sub-themes. The conference also solicits contributions of research-based posters that address themes and topics of the conference, including figures, tables, and references to novel research materials. In absence of physical presence the presenter can also present by video-conferencing mode by clearly mentioning before registration.

online Presented

The papers and posters should relate to the following themes and sub-themes that include, but are not limited to:

1. Emotional intelligence and peace

- Emotional Intelligence (EI/IQ), Social Emotional Learning (SEL) and Anger Management
- IT, AI, and Global Peace
